Drew Sproule is an internationally recognised private and commercial travel, wildlife and adventure photographer and nature photography tour leader.

He has travelled the world guiding groups and leading workshops in animal photography, and has been creating thought-provoking, inspirational imagery for over 16 years. His work has been published in many industry-leading titles and adorns packaging, promotional pieces, greeting cards, calendars and more.

Building awareness and educating through nature photography has always been his focus and continues to be fundamental to his approach.

Drew can be added to any of our teams at reasonable rates to ensure you capture the “Escorted Journey by Air” experience of your clients.
