With three decades of travel industry experience, predominantly in aviation, Lars brings a broad range of skills and experience as well as contacts to Bartelings. Lars worked at Pan American World Airways and Northwest Airlines before starting a long career at KLM/Air France. Whilst representing them, he was based in the Dutch Caribbean, in Chile, in Venezuela for a larger part of South/Central America, and in Indonesia as their Country Manager before returning to his native Curacao.

In 2007 he set up his own business offering Representation, Strategic Management and Corporate Advisory where he counted the Air Berlin Group and other airlines amongst his clients as well as non-aviation businesses.

Lars provides significant expertise in a fast growing area for private charter and is the main contact for all charter enquiries in and around Central and South America as well as the Caribbean.
