

Top 3 Winter Snow Destinations

Italy

The skiing region of Alta Badia within the stunning Dolomites boasts groomed slopes and ideal conditions for the perfect skiing experience. Positioned directly on the Selladonda, the world-famous tour around the Sella-Massif, the region is a must for ski enthusiasts. We would recommend a stay in the Hotel La Perla, a family-run cozy hotel nestled in the stunning landscape of Corvara village. And with thirty thousand bottles and three thousand labels, a visit to the hotel's Mahatma wine cellar is not to be missed. Alternatively San Cassiano is a charming cosmopolitan village where you will find Hotel Rosa Alpina with its three-starred Michelin restaurant.

Israel

Golan Heights in the far north of the country attracts visitors to enjoy winter sports. Mount Hermon, the highest point in Israel, has snow for much of the winter and a fresh blanket of snow provides great skiing conditions. An ideal stay would be in the Meron Golan Resort Village that lies within the Bental Volcano's crater with views overlooking Mount Bental. As an alternative to skiing, there are a number of wineries in the area and nature reserves to explore.

Finland

Lapland is one of our favourites and if you are going to do Christmas abroad then there's no better place than Santa's home! Lapland is Finland's northernmost region, known for its vast subarctic wilderness, ski resorts and natural phenomena including the midnight sun and the Northern Lights. This is the ultimate holiday in the snow and a stay in the Arctic TreeHouse Hotel in Rovaniemi will certainly stir the magical Christmas spirit. Atmospheric suites with real fireplace, private sauna and spectacular views of the northern skies brings new meaning to the word fairytale!
